BRYAN EXPERIENCE SHARED IN ALUMNI RALLIES

Alumni Rallies and Local Chapters

The seeds for new local chapters of the Bryan College Alumni Association have been planted this past year, and Bryan alumni fellowships are beginning to emerge as a result. The "seeds" are alumni rallies which have been held in six different locations around the eastern United States during 1983. The response in attendance and enthusiasm for these rallies has shown that permanent local chapters could easily be organized in each area.

Two of these six rallies held in December of 1983 were repeats from December of 1982. These two recent alumni gatherings held in St. Petersburg and Orlando, Florida, doubled their attendance figures over the meetings held there in 1982. The "lodestone" that drew people to these meetings was the sharing of a common Bryan experience among "Bryan people." Repeating these rallies in the same locations has obviously had a rolling snowball effect on the number of people attending and the enthusiasm for the meeting.

About two years ago an alumnus asked me what purpose was served in having local alumni chapters. In response to that question the alumni office has published a manual for local chapters which explains their purpose and plan for organization. The pattern developed in alumni rallies may serve to describe a typical meeting of a local chapter as outlined in the chapter manual. Following is a brief report describing the format of alumni rallies held in 1983.

What goes on? The very first activity, which was also the primary reason why alumni attended, was fellowship—Bryan fellowship. That is why the gatherings, usually centered around a mealtime, were very informal and relaxed. The goal was to have alumni become reacquainted and learn more about each other—to catch up on how the Lord has worked in their lives since they were last together. Rather than a speech or formal program, a report was given by a representative from the campus so that alumni and friends are informed about the current status of the college. For the six rallies held in 1983 the campus representative was the Director of Alumni Affairs. So the 1983 rallies demonstrated that what goes on at any alumni meeting is Bryan people sharing their Bryan experience and testimony and learning how they may promote and pray for the work of Bryan College.

What was the occasion? The Florida rallies were held in conjunction with basketball games scheduled by the athletic department with colleges in St. Petersburg and Orlando. Four of the six rallies were held in churches of alumni pastors.

Besides the rallies, alumni were invited to attend Bryan Friendship Banquets. These are larger gatherings sponsored by the college Advancement Office. People who are unfamiliar with Bryan and its mission are invited to these banquets so they can become acquainted with others who have shared in the Bryan experience and then they can learn about the Lord's work here.

Who attended? Others besides Bryan alumni want to share the Bryan experience, so these gatherings are attended also by parents of current students, student prospects, and by other "friends" of Bryan College. In other words, anyone interested in Bryan College is welcomed and invited.

How were they organized? The past year's alumni rallies were initiated for the most part by the Alumni Office. On the occasion of a Bryan basketball game, as with the Florida rallies, or when the Alumni Director is invited to minister at the church of an alumni pastor and otherwise represent the college, the Alumni Office arranged a dinner. Announcements were sent to all alumni within a 50-mile radius of the locations. Invitations were sent also to parents of current students as well as student prospects and their parents.

How are alumni rallies different than the meeting of a local chapter? The difference lies simply in who plans the meeting. While a rally is planned and promoted by the Director of Alumni Affairs working out of the Alumni Office, a local chapter meeting is called by the alumni who reside in the given location. The local chapter holds regular meetings at any periodic rate they may choose. They may meet twice a year or as often as once a month.

The leadership of the local chapter may call upon the Director of Alumni Affairs to assist with their meetings. This assistance may be in the form of sending invitations, printing and mailing flyers, providing a mailing list of all alumni in the area, and sending faculty or staff persons to the meeting.

Alumni Neighbors. Alumni are always surprised to find other Bryanites who live in their community. The next time you receive notice of an alumni rally, chapter meeting, or Bryan Friendship Banquet in your area, try to clear a space on your busy calendar to attend. You will meet some old friends make new friends, and enjoy the Christian fellowship that is a tradition of Bryan people.

The Alumni Office is ready to assist Bryan alumni anywhere in planning and promoting either a single fellowship gathering or in setting up an official local chapter. If you are interested in an alumni meeting in your home area, just write or call the alumni Office and we will be happy to assist in bringing together all your "alumni neighbors."

CLASS NOTES

30s - 40s

Lewis '38 and Sarah (Idleman) '39 Llewellyn report the change of name for Llewellyn Associates, Inc. to Llewellyn Ministries, Inc. to emphasize their Christian ministries. In addition to the Christian Commentator, ministries include Sunday morning worship service in Highland Hammock State Park near Sebring, an educational program for inmates in the Highlands County jail in Sebring, plus spiritual visitation in other jails in a three-county area.

Clyde '44 and Frances (Reed) x'46 Brogan continue their ministry with Bible churches in IFCA fellowship in Wisconsin. They reside in Pewaukee. One daughter, Janice, lives at home and assists with music in the churches. She graduated from Bible school in May. The other three children are married and live in Minnesota, Texas, and Alabama and presented their parents with two new grandsons in 1983 for a total of seven grandchildren and two step-grandchildren.

Eddie '46 and Eileen (Goodman) '46 Miller returned to Brazil in February 1983 to be greeted warmly by young people who were at the airport with their guitars and singing. The Millers are still working with the church in Belem (Marambaia) and hope to secure a Brazilian pastor.

Eileen and Eddie Miller visited with Mrs. Judson Rudd on their last furlough.

50s

Roger '50 and Phyllis Bacon were glad for a good response by persons making a profession of faith in Christ during a four-night evangelistic crusade held in Montreal during the middle of October. Construction is progressing on a new chapel with a moving date set for December 1.

Hugh '50 and "K" Coombs continue their ministry of representing Berean Mission in camps, conferences, and churches. Hugh participated in the ordination of two Berean appointees for foreign missions and also was used in the salvation of two women last summer. They maintain their home in Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania.

Edwin Cockrill '50 went "Home" to be with the Lord on July 27, 1980. His widow, Rosalind, is living in Fort Myers, Florida.

Dave '52 and Mary (Grover) '53 Naff anticipate furlough in 1984 from their work in Monrovia, Liberia, under SIM. They report that a new North African antenna has been erected and is working (after a fall on its first erection) and the semi-automatic switching of two AM transmitters has been completed at Radio Station ELWA. Two teacher training workshops, two weekly literacy classes, a three-month series of devotional books, revision of Book 1, Book 3 printed, Book 4 adapted for printing were reported from the literacy department. School is going well with Mary reporting "graduation" to fifth grade reading after 30 years in elementary teaching.

Ron Meznar '52 made an emergency trip to Ohio in December, leaving sunny Brazil to care for business in connection with the sudden death of Gladys's brother in Cincinnati. He also visited his mother in Cleveland and was joined by their children, Marc '82 from Texas and Jenny '79 from Toledo, Ohio, and two Brazilian girls who are currently enrolled at Bryan through the Meznars' encouragement. Jill (Meznar) '75 Thompson was en route to the States from the Middle East with stops in several Asian countries. She plans to study with Marc at the University of Texas as she pursues a master's in mathematics.

Wallace '52 and Elsie Sidback have been busy in Kenai, Alaska, assisting at their church, fishing for halibut and salmon, and hunting for moose and deer. The year yielded new families in the church, the homegoing of the pastor's wife, and many cases of canned red salmon. Wally got his first moose in five years and they shared deer from two nephews' game success. The Sidbacks extend an invitation to visitors in Alaska to stop by to see them.

Fred Donehoe '53 is the new principal at Warner Christian Academy with 500 students in Daytona Beach, Florida.

Don '53 and Joyann (Conlan) x'54 Walker in Amberg, Germany, were surprised at the good attendance at the tent evangelistic campaign last summer. At least three made decisions for Christ. Their children shared a family reunion before being scattered in several directions--Mary and family in California, Mark and family in Fayetteville, North Carolina. Matthew was married on October 8. The Walkers are concerned about the stationing of Pershing missiles and the implications for Americans who will not be considered to be friends of the Germans.

Dean '53 and Grace (Smith) '53 Koontz have lived in Monterey, California, since 1970, where Dean has been pastor of the First Baptist Church. In 1980 he received the D.Min. degree from the California Graduate School of Theology at Glendale. He is also a graduate of the Conservative Baptist Seminary and has been pastor of four Baptist churches. The Koontzes have two sons who are in their early twenties.

Suzanne (Royer) x'54 and Gordon Smith live in Torrance, California, since their marriage on July 25, 1981. Following their honeymoon in Hawaii, Suzanne returned to her post as mathematics teacher at Brethren High School near Long Beach, while her husband is occupied in the construction industry.

Darwin '54 and June (Hively) '54 Neddo returned with their sons, Marc and Paul, to France in October. Darwin is teaching Bible this quarter in the extension outreach of the European Bible Institute and developing a program of Bible education by extension. June is the dean of women at EBI and has her own office. There are 70 students at EBI from 16 countries--41 study in French and 29 in English. For Darwin and June it is their 25th anniversary and their sixth term in France.

Dr. Robert Clouse '54 was the eighth name to be added to the Juniata College list of scholars recognized for the J. Omar Good Visiting Distinguished Professorship of Evangelical Christianity. This list of distinction was established in 1975 with a bequest from the late J. Omar Good, an 1896 Juniata graduate. Dr. Clouse has been a member of the Indiana State University faculty in Terre Haute since 1963. He received his B.A. degree from Bryan, his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Iowa. He also has taught at the University of Iowa, Indiana University, and Grace College. He is the author of numerous articles and books. Since 1967 he has been a director of the Eugene V. Debs Foundation.

Ted Smetters '56 continues as pastor of the Bible Baptist Church in North Madison, Ohio, and also teaches one night a week at the Bible Institute in Cleveland. He includes a question-and-answer column for the Gospel Herald magazine. His wife, Mitzi, teaches the women's Bible study and the high school girls' class at church and has piano and organ students at home. For over a year she has been area representative for "Jews for Jesus." Their oldest daughter, Beth, is married and lives in Michigan; the next three--Helen, Steve, and David--are involved in college programs, and Kent is still living at home and can often be found working with the computer in his room!

George '55 and Norma Haberer are encouraged to see spiritual growth at Herowagi, Papua, New Guinea, where more than 40 people came to know the Lord as Saviour in the past year. At the Christmas season they joined other believers in their native Christmas tradition of marching down the mountain carrying tree branches decorated with flowers to decorate the church. They sing as they march to let the entire mountain population share this announcement about Christmas.

Wilbur '56 and Ida Lou Pickering with their daughter Karis returned to Brazil--Wilbur on December 29 and Ida Lou and Karis on January 11 for their fourth term. Their daughter Candace had joined the family in Pennsylvania for the Christmas vacation and then returned to Christian Heritage College as a freshman. Wilbur is participating in the second annual missionary training course in linguistics for Brazilians from January 3 to March 4. Several dozen candidates were expected to attend, representing different missions.

Jim x'56 and Barbara Pitts continue their ministry at the Children's Haven in Azrou, Morocco, where they have more than 50 children under their care. During the past summer the older children helped with cleaning and painting the Haven kitchen and dining room where Barbara spends so much time in supervision. The second main project was the resurfacing of the basketball court, which replaced the broken surface to give a smooth playing area for basketball, as well as for skating and skate boards. In September the visit of Dr. John and Dr. Heather Crease from England provided dental care for all the children and some staff members. Dental equipment had been provided by a dentist friend; the Westinghouse Corporation shipped all the equipment and Jim installed it. Quite a number of the former residents have left home for school and work--many scattered in Morocco, three in Europe, and six in the U.S.

For the past fourteen years Jess has been in full-time public school education in south Florida and part-time in the ministry doing pulpit supply, teaching Jewish evangelism, seminars, and personal evangelism.

D. G. x'67 and Ellie Haase with their three children have taken a furlough from Kenya to spend a year in the States with headquarters in Bon Air, Virginia. The children are enjoying Christian school teachers, opportunity to play soccer for the boys and to take piano lessons for Becky, along with Boys Brigade and Pioneer Girls at church.

Marge Scholz at work in her SIM office.

Marge Scholz '68 reports that the International Evangelical Church in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, planned to start an evening school in January with Marge serving as registrar. The classes will be held on the SIM compound. An outside interest for Marge is the American Women's Club of which she has been secretary for four years. The club sponsored a turkey dinner at the American Embassy for all Americans, which Marge saw as an opportunity for testimony. In her "spare" time Marge is working on an M.Ed. degree from Luther Rice Seminary in Jacksonville, Florida, by correspondence with an aim for September 1985 completion date.

David '69 and Sue Crawford with their children, Sonja and David, visited Bryan at the end of December on their furlough travels from Korea. They are affiliated with WEF Ministries in Langhorne, Pennsylvania.

They plan a tour to Israel next November. High has the assistance of two others on his pastoral staff. They share not only ministry but also music as a trio. Patty has been vice-president of the local Women's Missionary Society and is vice-chairman of the Parent Advisory Council in their daughter Julie's school. Julie is learning to play flute and portrayed "Hopeful" in a children's musical. Philip enjoyed singing Christmas carols this year.

The center includes a Christian school with Joyce as a teacher. In addition, John works on the staff of a Chevrolet sales office and is a truck specialist at the dealership. They have two children--Christine, 14, and Johnny, 13, who experienced complete recovery from a skull fracture and coma two years ago.

Hiroki and Joyce (Lukridge) '70 Okawa are rejoicing in their family of two sons and one daughter (see Births). Hiroki is still in medical school in a six-year course and will start hospital work next year with graduation planned for 1986. Joyce works part-time but concentrates on the "job" at home.
